They Compromised at Last

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were undecided what automobile they should buy. Mr. Jones wanted a Buick. But Mrs. Jones would have nothing but a Maxwell. They kept quarreling for months about it. At last they compromised the matter by going down to B. W. Hooker & Co.'s and selecting a nice Collapsible Go-Cart. It was the Wagner brand.

B. W. HOOKER & Co., Distributors for Barre.

Consider Your Baby's Comfort

When you take the little fellow out for a ride in the open air during the hot summer, don't make him ride in a cart that is stuffy and padded on all sides so that he will be hot and uncomfortable.

Get one of these cool, leather-lined collapsible carts that are handy for you and convenient for him. They don't take up much space—they are ball-bearing—move about easily—are graceful—attractive—and they work well anywhere.

The prices are remarkably low.

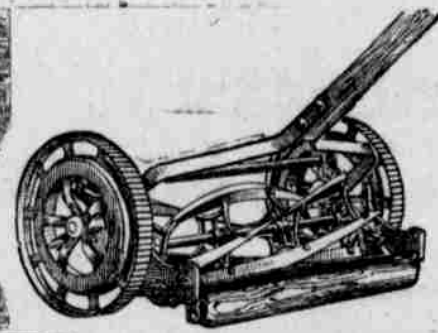

On Go-Carts at the present time, we have a nice stock—a stock not over forty-eight hours old—but on Baby Carriages we are sold out and have been for a month, although we doubled our last season's order. Should you prefer a Carriage to a Go-Cart, come in and see the F. A. Whitney Carriage Co.'s (the leader for fifty years) Photographs, order a Carriage, take thirty per cent off the list, and if the Carriage is not perfectly satisfactory you need not take it. That's fair, isn't it?

Glysson has invited the union to meet with her at her home on Perry street at the next regular monthly business meeting to be held August 8.

Shorty DeWitt at the Pavilion scored a big hit last night. This misfit comedian seems to have a way of his own that strikes the audience as very funny. With songs, dances and jokes, he completely won the audience, which responded to his efforts with several big rounds of applause. His make-up closely resembles "Little Joe" and it does not require any great stretch of one's imagination to see the famous cartoon character in real life. This act is bound to please all who like good clean comedy. Mae Hendricks has a pleasing personality and puts her songs over in a pleasing way. An all-new program of pictures comes to-day. One is a fine western drama of the Lubin company. An excellent Vitaphone picture, entitled "The Woman Haters," will also be shown to-day.

The Campaign "Props."

Bring them out of the attic, where they went four years ago. There will be enough of the good old stuff to put on the next big show. Brush the dust from that fine one, "my hearers, the die is cast." And I shall not budge if I cannot "judge of the future by the past."

Set the grindstone and sharpen the point of "we point with pride." And I've simply got to have my "cannot successfully be denied."

Use great care in unpacking "the sinews of labor's arm."

And take the squeak from the joints that crack in the "view" that goes with "alarm."

Bring the hero's "saber that still leaps from out its sheath" and the "campaign lie" to my hands that I still may "hurt it in his teeth."

Put some gloss on that good one of "our nation great and grand."

With a file and rasp put a rougher clasp upon "labor's honest hand."

Bring me all of the standbys—bring the "pauper labor's wage" and the "mar-tyr's tears" and the "priceless her-itage."

Bring the "hope of the future" and the "crisis that we face" and the "gleaming goal" and the "motives low and base."

Yes, and get out "Old Glory, the banner that floats above." And the "yours and mine" and the "pa-trie's shrine" and the "country that we love."

Bring them out of the attic, where they went four years ago. There will be enough of the good old stuff to put on the next big show. —Chicago Post.

Served Just as Well.

They were in Italy together. "If you would let me curse them black and blue," said the groom, "we wouldn't have to wait so long for the trunks."

"But, dearest, please don't. It would distress me so," murmured the bride. The groom went off, but quickly returned with the porters before him trundling the trunks at double quick.

"Oh, dearest, how did you do it? You didn't?"

"Not at all. I thought of something that did quite as well. I said 'S-s-s-sus-quehanna, R-r-r-rappahannock'!" —Lippincott's.
